

PV Schools Gifted Education Services invites you to a presentation by renowned speaker, author and educator Dr. James R. Delisle, author of Parenting Gifted Kids

Parenting Precocious Kids:

Understanding the ups and downs of growing up gifted

Mon, Jan. 30

Parents of gifted children and teens have many questions about how best to meet their intellectual and emotional needs. They want to know what giftedness is and the label's impact on other family members. They want to know how to advocate for their gifted child in a school setting. They want to know how to set expectations that are appropriate and balanced. And they want to know how to juggle the wide range of emotional intensities that often accompanies growing up gifted. This session addresses these and other issues that 'come with the territory' in parenting gifted kids.

Monday,
Jan. 30, 2012
6 p.m.

PVschools Governing Board Room
15002 N. 32nd Street, Phoenix
602.449.2000

Jim retired from Kent State University recently after 25 years of service as a professor of special education. The author of more than 250 articles and 16 books, including the bestselling books, When Gifted Kids Don't Have All the Answers, The Gifted Kids' Survival Guide: A teen handbook, Parenting Gifted Kids, and Barefoot Irreverence: A collection of writing in gifted child education and has been a columnist for Gifted Child Today magazine for almost 20 years. Jim's work has been translated into multiple languages and has been featured in both professional journals and in popular media such as The New York Times and on Oprah!

PVschools.net/gifted

Paradise Valley
Unified School District

Cultivating world-class thinkers

Gifted

Call me Ishmael. Some money in my purse, and nothing about a little and see the waters part. Whenever

$x = 188^\circ$ Find x
 182°
 $x = 110^\circ$ $\pi \approx 3.14$